That's correct. Hence, we need $-(3 \times -4) \geq 0$ for the polynomial to have Real roots. So, do all quadratics have real roots? As the original equation $= 0$, do we naturally assume that the real solutions are +ve, and therefore ≥ 0 ? I am a little confused as to the discriminant being +ve or -ve.

In other words, it "discriminates" between the possible solutions. The discriminant is the expression found under the square root part of the quadratic formula (that is, $b^2 - 4ac$). The value of $b^2 - 4ac$ tells how many solutions, roots, or x-intercepts the quadratic equation will have. If $b^2 - 4ac > 0$, there are two real solutions. If $b^2 - 4ac = 0$, there is one real solution.
