The Hatchet by Gary Paulsen is one of my favorite YA novels. It certainly deserves its spot on the PBS list for the Great American Read. While Road Trip is an entertaining YA book, it just isn't anywhere near The Hatchet in quality. Road Trip is a light-hearted book about a father and son road trip to rescue a border collie puppy.

Acclaimed author Gary Paulsen has often written about dogs, and is known as an enthusiastic fan of canines. He clearly passed this love on to his son, Jim, co-author of Road Trip, the quirky, fast-paced story of a father and son on a quest to rescue a young border collie.. As Gary Paulsen explains in his author's note, he and Jim hadn't actually set out purposefully to write a book together.

I work at Barnes and Noble and loved Gary Paulsen's Winterdance and My Life in Dog Years, so when I saw this book in our children's department I picked it up and read it in one sitting. It really was a fun and awesome book. It had a road trip, quirky characters, and dogs. I especially loved the dog's interjections between chapters. The book flows.

Gary Paulsen is an adventurer who competed in two Iditarods, survived the Minnesota wilderness, and climbed the Bighorns. None of this would have been possible without his truest companion: his animals. Sled dogs rescued him in Alaska, a sickened poodle guarded his well-being, and a horse led him across a desert.
