Rules Of The Game Language

A language game (also called secret language, ludling, or argot) is a system of manipulating spoken words to render them incomprehensible to the untrained ear. Language games are used primarily by groups attempting to conceal their conversations from others. Some common examples are Pig Latin; the Gibberish family, prevalent in the United States and Sweden; and Verlan, spoken in France.

1. Managers can create and/or join as many leagues as they want. It is completely free to create a league, but you can choose to set an entry fee for the league (in game currency, "coins"), in which case the entry fees are added up in order to create a "coin" prize for the winner. The "coin" prize is 75% of the sum of all entry fees, and is distributed after the league ends.
