The book we will be using, Renovation of the Heart in Daily Practice, is not a book that you just read to conquer and cross off your to-do list. You must interact with it, underline, make notes in the margin, and meditate on its content. It is a book that you need to revisit again and again in order to reinforce the principles it purports.

Renovation of the Heart-Study Guide with Cover Page (1)

Renovation of the Heart is a realistic guide to discipleship and the real challenges of Christian formation that helps to answer that inquiry. It lays a foundation for understanding the ruin and restoration of humanity, by discussing human nature and its components, how they operate, and how they are renewed.

Summary. Renovation of the Heart proposes that the human self is made up of several interrelated components: one's spirit, i.e. one's "heart" or "will"; one's mind, or the collection of one's thoughts and feelings; the body; one's social context; and one's soul. Willard argues that one's identity is largely a function of how those components are...

Renovation of the heart should take place in local churches. Members are in a spiritual hospital in various stages of recovery. Spiritual formation in Christ-likeness should be the primary goal of each local church. Emphases should be put on principles and absolutes of the New Testament, not on trivia and distractions.
