The roots of a function are the x intercepts of the function. Whenever a function passes through a point on the x -axis, the value of the function is zero. In other words, to find the roots of a function, we must set the function equal to zero and solve for the possible values of x . This is a quadratic trinomial.

Quadratic Equations - SAT Math - Varsity Tutors

Investigating Area Under a Curve About this Lesson This lesson is an introduction to areas bounded by functions and the x -axis on a given interval. Since the functions in the beginning of the lesson are linear, or piecewise linear, the enclosed regions form rectangles, triangles, or trapezoids. Within the lesson, the concept of accumulation
