"Reverb" By J. Cafessin was a "love story, a psychological thriller paced with romantic suspense." I truly could not have said it any better because this was truly a story of redemption. I enjoyed the first POV from James Michael Whren and the other characters are in third person POV.. all giving the reader a good story.

J. Cafessin liked Neonator's review of Lean Startup Marketing: The 3-Step Process to Marketing Ideas into Products for Profit. "This is a different kind of business book. It dispenses with the theory, the how I made it, etc. and gives you a step by step process on how to start with an idea, and develop it in to a business.

Reverb is a love story, a psychological thriller paced with romantic suspense. Spun from The Magus (John Fowles), also about a man who learns to love someone other than himself, and way beyond 50 Shades of Gray (E.L. James), Reverb is told like Crime and Punishment, modern, tight, dark, edgy verging on sharp.
